(In most cases I would expect one sentence for each item. Tell peers what page to find the code for grid, how you are indicating the current page, etc.)

Your name: Terri Kang

Link to your deployed site:

Link to your Github repository:

https://github.com/kkangtyy/ccp_mobile_w24

Reminder: This should be in a new repo called ccp_mobile_w24.

(There shouldn't be any capital letters in your repo name. You can use the same repo as for your ccp html submission.)

- 1) Do you have all four pages that are linked via a common navigation bar? Does the order of the navigation elements stay the same on all four pages?

Yes, the order goes from Home, Pets, Recipes, and Travel; all are linked on a common navigation bar.

- 2) Does each page have a unique title?

Yes, each is titled at the top with its respective topic.

- 3) Does each page have a "Skip to Main Content" link that is currently not shown?

Yes, the user can access this using the tab key, otherwise it will not be shown.

- 4) How do you indicate the current page within the links in the navigation? (Make sure you are not using just color.)

The current page will be indicated with “(current page)” in the navigation bar, and the tab on the bar will be bolded.

- 5) Is the font big enough to let me click on each link from a mobile device? (Check it on an actual mobile device.)

Yes, the fonts are big enough.

- 6) What elements use grid and which pages are these elements on?
What did you have to change to your code to get the grid property to work?

The image elements on the pets.html page and h2, h3, and h4 elements of recipe.html and travel.html are all grided.

- 7) Did you use Inspect Element to check that removing display: grid changes the layout of the page? (Include screenshot if desired.)

Rome

Rome is one of the oldest metropolitan areas in the world. With a history dating back to 700 BC with the birth of the Roman Empire, the city has maintained its status as a cultural and historical hub of Europe. The city is peppered with ancient monuments, statues, and piazzas from different eras of history. The most famous location, the Colosseum, is touted as one of the seven modern wonders of the world. Rome houses several world famous museums, such as the Borghese and the Vatican Museum. It is also the only city in the world to encompass a recognized country, Vatican City.

Rome is also a great location for food, wine, and leisure. At the heart of Italy, Rome is a central gathering place for a diverse array of Italian cuisine; Neapolitan Pizza from the south, Tuscan wine, and truffle from the north. Rome's most famous dish is carbonara. Beyond the food, Rome has a vibrant nightlife. The Trastevere neighborhood has plenty of bars and clubs for patrons and, just over the river, Centro's shopping district is always bustling.

- 8) Did you include media queries to ensure that any gifs or other animation are not displayed when the user prefers reduced-motion?

Yes, the media query makes sure that the gifs in the pages are turned to display: none if the user prefers reduced-motion.

- 9) What did you do to make your pages particularly visually appealing?
How did you come up with your color scheme? Tell us more about your font choices, image editing, etc. I am sure there are things that you did that we can't easily see. I would expect to see a bulleted list of at least 8 things.

- I made sure to search for a color palette that meets the minimum color contrast ratio.
- I chose to keep the current serif font for consistency.
- Each heading is organized by topic and colored accordingly.
- I added borders to the images to make them easier to see and consistent with the red color scheme of the navigation bar

- “Skip to Main” is a different color than the navigation bar for readability purposes
- There is a main image that depicts each pet in pets.html that separates the image from the photo gallery. This photo, classed as “introimage” is bordered a different color to indicate that the pet has changed, in addition to the heading with the new pet’s name
- The colors for h3 and h4 are consistent to indicate sub-information about the topic, separate from main description paragraphs.
- The h3 and h4 headings that indicate recipe ingredients and steps are on the same line, but the info is strictly on different sides of the page to indicate different sections.

Make sure that you checked your site ON A PHONE. We are looking for how it looks on a small screen.

- 10) Validation - Include screenshots of your page validating on aXe, Wave, and the W3 validator.
 - a) If you have errors that you don’t think should count against your grade, include documentation.

Error Bad value images/Mexico_Guanajuato Night (1).jpg for attribute src on element img : Illegal character in path segment: space is not allowed.
From line 52, column 13; to line 52, column 113

This error appears for a photo link, but the file itself contains a space. The image still appears in the pages and doesn’t have any problems with its appearance. This page has passed all other validators.

- b) You need to include 12 screenshots in total

Chocolate Chip Banana Bread
 This is a tried-and-tested recipe that I have used numerous times for making the perfect chocolate chip banana bread! Not only does it help utilize the bananas that have slowly overripened at the back of the fridge, it ends up creating an incredibly delicious, and relatively healthy, dessert.

Recipe Ingredients

- o Cooking spray
- o 2 cups (240 g) all-purpose flour
- o 1 tsp. baking soda
- o 1/2 tsp. kosher salt
- o 1 large egg plus 1 egg yolk
- o 1 cup (200 g) granulated sugar
- o 1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter, melted
- o 1/4 cup sour cream
- o 1 tsp. pure vanilla extract
- o 3 ripe bananas, mashed

Recipe Steps

01. Preheat the oven to 350°. Line a 9"-by-5" loaf pan with parchment and grease with cooking spray.
02. In a medium bowl, whisk flour, baking soda, and salt.
03. In a large bowl, mix egg, egg yolk, granulated sugar, butter, sour cream, and vanilla. Add bananas and stir until combined. Gradually add dry ingredients to banana mixture until just combined.

Bacon Q Dog

Bacon Q. Dog is a 9yr old labradoodle. He prefers to spend his days lounging among the three different beds/couches that his family has gifted him. He enjoys a walk or two around the neighborhood, as long as he can pretend that he doesn't see any of the other animals to avoid the embarrassment of not wanting to admit he has no wolf-like skills in chasing them.

At night just as the rest of the family is ready to relax, Bacon suddenly wants to release all of his energy. He will place his toys on a mini couch and frantically drag the couch around, giving his toys "a ride." There is also a lot of rolling. Lots and lots of rolling.

- 11) Check your site for other issues. Are you using the reset style stylesheet? Did you remember to include the viewport meta tag? Do you have console errors? Did you use proper naming conventions (no uppercase letters or spaces, mnemonic file names, etc.)

I have a reset style sheet, the viewport meta tag is present on all html files, and there are no console errors.

- 12) Double check your website against the grading rubric in Canvas!
